

National Injury Prevention Day 2022

Knowing the color green symbolizes things that are refreshing and tranquil, it is thought of a relief from stress and a conduit to help heal, that green streetlights indicate safety and permission to go, and understanding that "to give the green light" expresses approval, the Injury Free Coalition for Kids® began asking the country to shine a green light on November 18th 2020, to establish the country's first National Injury Prevention Day (NIPD). There were 22 cities that took part.

It was an endeavor to raise awareness about lives lost and people disabled by both unintentional and intentional injuries and violence. NIPD efforts continue to grow; but most importantly with the building of strong partnerships, the number of people educated and empowered to create change is increasing. In 2022, the 3rd National Injury Prevention Day, more than 300 photographs documented activities that took place in 79 cities across the country and more than 18,600 lives were touched on the ground. When it comes to media potentially 1.6 million people were reached through releases posted in more than 650 media outlets, that in addition to the 30 million impressions made during the annual twitter chat.

People doing the work say speaking with one voice on one day makes a difference. A number of participants talked about an increase of support from their institutions both financially and with assistance provided by staff.

Efforts made by partners are appreciated...:

Thank you for a great 3rd Annual NIPD. We are very grateful for your support and generating energy and enthusiasm for injury prevention awareness. Ana Acosta, El Paso, Texas

I was honored to have my team participate in NIPD. I look forward to next year's event to reach more families. Michael Chappell, Providence, Road Island.

I am very pleased with our turnout and the community partnerships I was able to make and strengthen. I look forward to growing this event in Denton County over the next few years. Lacy White, Denton, Texas

Thank you to IFCK for leading this and to all the other sites for their hard work too! Shelbi Crespi, Stanford, CA.

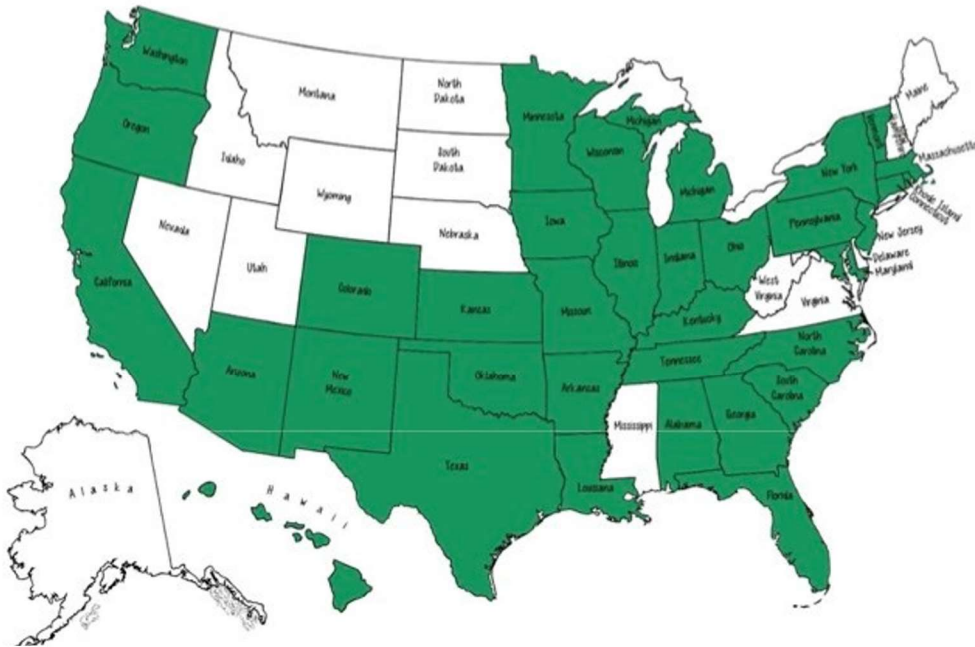

The following report summarizes the 2022 Injury Prevention Day activities.

Featured Events

During NIPD 2022 there were several overarching events that took place on November 18th.

- TCAA Nationwide Media Contest: TCAA's Injury Prevention Committee sponsored a media contest to spread the word about preventing injuries in our communities – Here's your chance to show us "What Safety Looks Like in Your Community." Participants from elementary school through college participated. All of the winners can be seen at: <https://www.traumacenters.org/page/NIPDCampaign>
- NIPD Webinar: The day began with a one-hour webinar, "Unifying Voices," which included representation from all of the Injury Prevention Partners and featured Christopher M. Jones, PharmD, DrPH, MPH (CAPT U.S. Public Health Service), the Director of the National Center for Injury Prevention and Control served as the keynote. They discussed the state of injury and the importance of the NIPD's effort to get people to speak with one voice on one day. There were 301 people registered and 260 attended. A recording of the webinar can be viewed at: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=-BnNbJD9gRQ>
- Sign on Document: Safe States produced a document sharing the reasons for the founding of NIPD and asking other organizations to join the effort to raise awareness about the burden of injury and violence and the need for change. It makes readers aware that the effort is dedicated to educating and empowering communities to make a difference in work toward reducing injuries and deaths. There were 53 organizations committed to joining forces to support and promote National Injury Prevention Day by Shining a Green Light and promoting the Day among their memberships, constituencies, and communities. The document was shared with all of the members of the US Congress. It can be seen here: <https://injuryfree.org/nationalinjurypreventionday/2022/support.cfm>
- Conferences & Workshops: There were 7 conferences and workshops that took place on National Injury Prevention Day both in person and on zoom. They covered a number of topics with experts sharing facts about injuries and ways to prevent them. These events took place in Boston, Tampa, Vermont, Seattle, Chicago (University) and Arkansas
- Twitter Chat: The annual Twitter Chat took place in its usual time of 1:00 p.m. Eastern using the hashtag #BeInjuryFree. There were more than 30 million impressions. See more details below in media.
